

Romanian Language

It has been brought to our attention by several officials visiting our office in Romania that offensive language is commonly used by Romanian speaking staff. Such behavior, in addition to violating our policy, is highly unprofessional and offensive to both visitors and staff.

All personnel will immediately comply with the following rules and guidelines:

1. Words like Futui, in pula mea, pula and other such expressions will not be tolerated or used for emphasis or dramatic effect, no matter how heated a discussion may become.
2. You will not say si-au bagat pula when your colleagues bungle a project, or s-a cacat pe el if you see someone being reprimanded, or baga-mi-as pula in ea de rabla, when appliances in your office break down. All forms, derivations, paradigms, synonyms or even euphemisms of the verbs a se caca and a se fute are utterly inappropriate and unacceptable in our environment.
3. No project manager, department head or administrator will, under any circumstances, be referred to as cacaranu' or boul ala/ vaca aia.
4. Lack of determination will not be referred to as labagism nor will persons who lack initiative be referred to as muiangiu.
5. Unusual or creative ideas offered by management are not to be referred to as porcarii, timpenii and / or idiotenii
6. Do not say futu-i mortii masii if somebody is persistent; do not add pula mea, if a colleague is going through a difficult situation. Furthermore, you must not state o sa ne-o traga when a situation becomes utterly hopeless.
7. When asking someone to leave you alone, you must not make use of du-te-n pula mea nor should you ever substitute "May I help you?" with "Ce pula mea vrei?"
8. Under no circumstances should you ever call elderly staff bosorogi imputiti/ nenorociti
9. Do not say ia mai mergeti-n pula mea cu cacatul asta when a relevant project is presented to you, nor should you ever answer futu-te-n cur or ma pupi in cur when your assistance is required.
10. You should never refer to management as boii dracului or tampitii aia.
11. Last but not least, after reading this note, please do not say ma sterg la cur cu textul asta.
